G. W. DAUGHETEE.

Geo. W. Daughetee was born June 7, 1827, in Clark county, Ky., and died near Vailey View Tex., Nov. 20, 1898. He was converted and joined the M. E. Church at Jackson's Chapel at about the age of thirteen. He lived from that time until his death a consistent exemplary Christian life. Bro Daughetee was a man of positive convictions, though a man of few words, and when convinced of the right he moved along that line quietly, but firmly, with all lis energies, fearing nothing, having no thought of being thwarted in his purpose. This characteristic was brought out very prominently in his life during the war, and after, when it took firmness and ceurage to stand to one's covictions. In the separation of 1844 he espouswar the lines were drawn so sharply in his community, and the opposide side being in the majority, his church went down-so I have been informed-until ali the members but himself and family became discouraged and quit; bet he, true to his convictions and his church, held on in the face of seeming defeat through the years, until, after awhile, God honored his falth, and integrity, the church began to gather strength and grow, and now they have a good strong church and a nice, building in which to worship—a monument the cause he held so dear. A good man has been taken from us, one who served his generation by the will of God. He lived in his home as quiet way which did not fall to make its impress upon his family and others. He did not order and command Acting Gov. Worthington in the control of his children, but and Godly example to steer them in the proper course; and it did not fail, for they are an honor to him. All of them are good, religious citizens. In the Circuit Court at Ver. Bro. Daughetee was married to Miss Nancy Spry on May 3, 1850. had born unto them seven children His wife and two of his children preceded him to the glory world. The five who remain are following after. Just a few weeks before his death his last son was happily converted, on which occasion he said to me with great joy: "I am satisfied now; the last one of my children is saved. I am ready to go; yea, I want to go." He was taken sick in a few days and gradually, without suffering a great deal, closed what I have often heard Christian experience as anyone with whom I ever associated. He moved to Texas in November, 1884, and county, where he lived until his desth. May the God of all grace keep his children and loved ones, and at last bring them safe to the mansion shove. W. E. WOMAN

As She Is Seen by a Tender Hearted Analyst.

Woman!

She can laugh with her lips, make a man think she is the merriest creature in the world. while her eyes are full of unshed tears and her heart is beating as if it would burst. She can forgive a great sin like an angel and nag a man about a petty vice like a fury.

She can fix up old frocks and wear them with a cheerful heart that she may help somebody, and she can spend the first money she really feels she can use for herself in going to a matinee or on candy when she needs a new pair of shoes. She can quiet a baby with one or two reassuring pats, when a man might almost knock the life out of it, give it a whole bottle of soothing syrup, and it would still be open eyed and aggressive. She can cry out her troubles on a man's shoulder, and feel a relief that is only possible from masculine help, and 10 minutes later she can laugh in that man's face and wonder what men were made for.

What can't she do? She will never be able to resist the man or baby who has got the love of her heart .- Ex.

He was surrounded by covetous eyes all day, but he allowed no one to get close to him. He tantalezed the crowd by holding out a peck of gold in a basket, twirling a revolver in the other. Toward evening he put the cash in the bank and went home, having shown the people what a "John Farmer" could do when he wanted to "show off."

For instance, there was a man by the name of -well, say Tim Short, who sent os three notices to stop his paper, he didn't waat his paper any longer. We wondered what was the matter. Examining the subscription book we found that Tim was short $10. He never had paid a cent, and yet he had stopped his paper as a matter of economy-to us. He didn't want us to lose any by hlm. A few days afterwards Short was at church and his melodious voice rang out loud and clear in that old toul stirring song, "Jesus Paid it All." We have been mistaken but his earnestness impressed us. So the next day we sent him a receipt in full begging his pardon for not knowing that he had made an assign ment of his liabililities to the Lord .- Fulton Guard.

Mixed Correspondence.

One of our exchanges tells a boat an editor who got his answers to correspondents mixed. One writer had, asked him a question as to the best way of conducting the affairs of twins during the teething period. The other wanted taknow how grasshoppers could be induced to let up on their depredations in his orchard. The editor answered the questions but inadvertently mixed the initials. The happy father of the twins was told to "cover them carefully with straw and set fire to them, and the little pesis, after jumping about in the flames for a few in when the man . plagued with grasshoppers found himself gravely directed to "Give a little easter oil and rub their gums with bone-riage," It took a lot of explaining to equare that editor with two indignant subscribers.

Chambersain's Cough Remedy.

This remedy is Intended especially for coughe, colds, croup, whooping cough and influenza. It has become famous for its cures of these diseases, over a large part of the civilized world. The most fluttering testimonials have been received, giving accounts of its good woks; of the aggravating and presistent oughs it has cured; of severe colds that have yielded promptly to its soothing effects, and of the dangerous nitacks of croup it has cured, often saving the life of the chiid. The extensive use of it for whooping cough has shown that it robs that disease of ali dar gerous consequences. It is especially prized by mothers for their children, as it never fails to effect a speedy cure, and because they lave found that there is not the least danger in giving it, even to babies, as it commins nothing injurious. Muchinery is taking off man's hands the work that requires the least amount of brains; that can best be performed by an automaton. It is not making man's labor less severe, rather the contrary; it is continually adding to his responsibilities, to the necessity of using his head with his hands. In itself his work is often harder than it was; yet inasmuch as it the nerves of the eye was so disrequires a higher application, It gives man such a sense of his own powers that he would never go back to the old, easier methods. —Exchange.

Coincidences of Jeffeson Davis and a number of occasions he has Abraham Lincoln.

tucky, Davis in 1808 and Lin-Lincoln was captain of volunteers and Davis lientenant of the regulars. Both began their political careers at the same period, 1844, Davis being then a presidential elector of Pelk, and Lincoln n presidential elector for Henry Clay. Both were e lected to Congress, and in the same year and within a few days of each other were called upon to preside over their respective governments. Davis as President of the Confederate States, February 8, 1861, and Lincoln as President of the United States, March 4, 1861.

Plaint of A Millionaire.

What is the smallest income on which a man may live in New York? was the question I asked to-day of a noted banker, whose income cannot be less than $100,000,000 a year. "Well," he replied, "my household expenses alone amount to $25,000 a year, and I do not see how I possibly could live on less than that." Then a reminscent smile began to cross his countenance, and heaving a little sigh, he said: "But the happiest time of my life was when my wife and I and two children lived here on $2,500 a year. After all, happiness doesn't depend on the amount of a man's income."

"I was quite intimate with

William H. Vanderbilt when he was considered the richest man in the country. I met him one day in Fifth avenue and said to him that he ought to be the happiest man in the world. 'I am not' the great millionaire replied. 'My health is shattered and all the money I possess eannot restore it. I cannot even drive one of my fine horses. It is painful for me to sit down. My only possible exercise is for me to walk down the avenue. I receive threatening letters daily, and my nerves are so unstrung that I am constantly afraid that some assassin will waylay me. I am overrun with people who want to get money. I am the most wretched man in New York, and I tell you that after a person has accumulated enough every dollar in addition is a burden and weighs him down."

A Novel Law Suit. A New York grocer lias brought suit aguinst a dental company, and the action is one of the most novel ever heard of but not from the plaintiff's standpoint. He went to linve a tooth extracted and the wrong molar was pulled; but this was not the worst of the operation. One of arranged that the optic keeps up a constant twitching in a manner commonly known as a wink. This has caused the grocer much embarrassment.

The Stingy Man.

He lived on thirteen eents a day-Ten cents for milk and crackers, One cent for dissipation gay, And two cents for tobacco. And if he wished an extra dish, He'd take his pole and catch a fish And if his stomach raised a war 'Gaiust his permicious habit,

He'd go and kill a woodehuek, Or assassinate a rabbit. And thus he'd live in sweet content

On food that never cost a cent.

And that he might lay in the bank The proceeds of his labor, He'd call'round at meals, the crank To dine upon his neighbor. And then he'd eat enough to last

Hebought no pantaloons nor vest, No rich, expensive jacket;

Until another day had passed.

He had one suit—his pa's bequest He said would stand the racket. He patched it thirty years, 'tis

And then declared 'twas good as

He owned but one suit to his back, And minus cuffs and collars He died and left his nephew Jack Nine hundred thousand dollars! AndJack ran this fortune through And it only took a year or two. -Exchange.
